"Does Charlie want feeding again?" Rebecca asked in the baby voice that irritated them all, herself included. This action Rebecca found comforting; it reminded her of being at home as a child when she used to sit in the family sitting room, her toes playing with the fringes of another kind of rug. cross and irritable. Simultaneously, the toes of her left foot moved back and forth across the edges of the sheepskin rug. "Just the thought of going for a workout makes me want to go and lie down." Once more she didn't get a response. Rebecca had a sudden whiff of the glue that Katy was applying to make one of her artistic creations. She bent down to scoop her son up. "Mum, he doesn't want feeding again. "Who's going to make the tea then?" was her third and most blatant attempt to get a drink before she died of thirst. 3) What is Rebecca's attitude to the letter lying on the table? ?start »The pet storeGeorge wants them to give him a pet ?start »A Typical Day at SchoolPREMIUMAny given day at school ?start »Amy and SchoolPREMIUMAmy doesn't want to go to school ?start »BaseballPREMIUMBaseball isn't a difficult sport ?start »BedroomPREMIUMThe bedroom of twins ?start »Building a Tree HousePREMIUMWe're going to need a lot of wood for our house ?start »Celebrating Christmas with my FamilyPREMIUMSpending Christmas with the family ?start »Characteristics of a Great EquestrianPREMIUMSomeone who knows a lot about horses ?start »Christmas is comingPREMIUMPeople love the Christmas atmosphere ?start »Climbing Trees with my FriendsPREMIUMWe have a lot of fun climbing trees ?start »Description of Three FriendsPREMIUMHere are three good friends ?start »Dinner preparationPREMIUMTime flies. He lay underneath a baby gym, which consisted of a tubular frame in patriotic colours of red, white and blue and a top bar, from which dangled two clowns, one on a swing and one in a position that Rebecca thought was called a pike. 2) What action does Rebecca take with her daughter? The answer came from upstairs as they heard the sound of their older child passing through the curtain in the doorway of her bedroom. 6) The curtain referred to in Katy's bedroom is identical in design to one from a previous generation. is made up of unusual colours. The adverb's claims are misleading. The pandemic started mildly, in the spring of 1918, but was followed by a much more severe wave in the fall of 1918. Every three minutes and 50 seconds Katy got up to replay Kylie Minogue's version of 'The Locomotion'. Rebecca gave him a warning look that dared him not to put the cups down on the oak blanket box that served as their coffee table. "Why don't you listen to the CD all the way through, Katy?" her dad said, who was sprawled out on the other sofa. Can you tell me where to go? restless and agitated. You're a treasure." She settled down to feed Charlie, knowing that her tea would be the perfect temperature to drink in one go by the time he had had enough. She couldn't remember which one of them had named it the 'jingle-jangler' but it was very apt. he might damage an item of furniture. This web site is not endorsed or approved by ETS. "I suppose it's my turn. (It was a long time ago that she had achieved her gold star award in the trampoline.) Once Charlie made eye contact with Rebecca, his happy babbling began to turn into a grizzle. It was the first in a series of hints that she would like him to get up and make her a cup of tea. She really should be working at the kitchen table, Rebecca thought, but I don't have the appetite for the outburst that might happen if my genius-daughter-at-work is disturbed. "I'll try - just in case he's hungry." In the kitchen she warmed through the mush of potatoes and broccoli that Charlie liked and took it back through to be with Katy. It was like those beaded curtains that used to be in fashion when Rebecca was a child, but instead of beads this one was formed from a dazzling collection of pink, purple and silver shimmering plastic squares. She hopes it will prompt her to take up exercise. Her mother would snap at her to stop it, so of course she did it all the more. A characteristic feature of severe cases of the Spanish Flu was heliotrope cyanosis, where the patient's face turned blue from lack of oxygen in the cells. Death usually followed within hours or days. The clock struck three and Rebecca's elbow still rested on the arm of the tapestry-covered sofa. In the United States, for instance, more servicemen were killed from the flu than from the war itself. Again." He went off into the kitchen while Rebecca, the victor, snuggled a bit further into the sofa. Luckily, the baby was actually ready for a feed, which meant that Rebecca not only saved face with her daughter, but showed that she had no need to feel guilty about sending her husband to make the tea. Modern medicine such as vaccines, antivirals, and antibiotics for secondary infections were not available at that time, so medical personnel couldn't do much more than try to relieve symptoms. Poor nutrition and the unsanitary conditions of war camps had an effect. he doesn't like the smell of her tea. "You'd like the other songs as well." "Nah, too boring." Rebecca glanced at David and then said, "I could do with something to perk me up." Her words trailed off with a heavy sigh, and then a yawn. glad to have got her own way. tea is dripping from the saucer. ?start »The city where I liveSimon introduces us to his family. It was a lazy Sunday afternoon, the lull before the storm of Monday morning madness of alarm clocks, traffic jams and deadlines. The pandemic hit during World War I and devastated military troops. In his other hand he clutched a large mug. Initial symptoms of the flu were typical: sore throat, headache, and fever. A third wave occurred in the winter and spring of 1919, and a fourth, smaller wave occurred in a few areas in spring 1920. The flu ended when it had infected enough people that those who were susceptible had either died or developed immunity. "Where's Katy got to?" David said, after a few minutes. "Thanks. She had kept it on the table as a reminder, or perhaps to conjure up the same kind of magical effect that people believe in when they splash out on membership to a fancy gym without going near the place more than once every two months. It killed about 20 to 50 million people worldwide, perhaps more. makes a tinkling sound. Then, occasionally, he jammed his fingers into his mouth to make a sound approaching an elongated 'w'. It makes her feel more motivated. 5) Rebecca is worried when her husband brings in the drinks because he might trip over Katy's equipment. sad and upset. Charlie, who'd been asleep on the sheepskin rug, now started up with his own brand of baby chatter. She appeals to Katy to play a wider range of music. Her daughter was seated on a cushion right in the middle of the room, looking like an island, surrounded by a sea of cardboard cut-offs, sequins, felt-tip pens, and pristine sheets of white A4 paper that she had disobediently pinched from her father's study. The war likely contributed to the devastating mortality numbers, as large outbreaks occurred in military forces living in close quarters. guiltily that she's being lazy.
